THE COMMONWEALTH.

FRANKFORT.

FRIDAY.....AUGUST 21, 1863.

Inauguration of Gov. Bramlette.

We are requested to call a meeting of the citizens of the city of Frankfort, and county of Franklin, and the adjacent counties, at 11 o'clock, A. M., on Saturday, the 22d instant, to make the necessary arrangements for the inauguration of Governor Thos. E. Bramlette, which will take place on Tuesday, September 1st, (being the fifth Tuesday after the election,) and also to pay suitable respect to the retiring Governor, by an escort for him on his homeward journey.

We hope there will be a full attendance of our citizens, and that all due respect will be paid to these distinguished and patriotic citizens.

Draft in New York City.

The draft in the city of New York, which was interrupted some weeks ago by the mob, has been resumed. Governor Seymour issued an address, warning the people against a repetition of the lawlessness of the recent mob, and urging obedience to the authorities. In speaking of the conscript law he said:

"Until it is set aside by the decision of judicial tribunals, it must be obeyed like any other act of the State or national Legislature. The antagonistic doctrine that men may right fully resist laws opposed to their own idea of right or duty, has not only led to great disorder and violence, but is one of the chief causes of the disastrous civil war which has wasted the blood and treasure of our people. Disregard for the sacredness of the Constitution, for the majesty of the laws, and for the decision of the judiciary, is at this time the greatest danger which threatens American liberty. This spirit of disloyalty must be put down. It is inconsistent with social order and social society, destructive to the safety of persons and property, and subversive to the liberty of the citizen and the freedom of the nation."

The principles set forth with such clearness by Gov. S. will be recognized as correct and just, and a departure from them has been one of the chief causes of the rebellion.

Gov. S., in the extract which we give, expresses the well known principles of Washington, Jackson, Clay, Webster, and Crittenden. The resistance of laws by States or mobs is destructive of all government. It was a denial of these principles by the radicals of the North headed by Wade, Wilson, Chase, and other prominent Republicans, and the Secessionists of the South, headed by Calhoun, Davis, Hunter, Toombs, and others, that corrupted the politics of the Nation and prepared it for the rebellion in the South, and lawlessness, violence and nullification in the Northern States.

Andrew Jackson, the great modern leader of Democracy, used the following language: "Until the law shall be declared void by the Courts, or repealed by Congress, no individual or combination of individuals can be justified in forcibly resisting its execution. It is impossible that Government can continue to exist on any other principles. It would cease to be a Government and unworthy of the name if it had not the power to enforce the execution of its own laws within its own sphere of action."

However objectionable the Conscript law may be to the people, it must be obeyed until set aside by the Judiciary. To admit individuals, or combinations of individuals, to forcibly resist an act of Congress, or of a State upon their own ideas of right or duty, would be destructive of all Government. It would place mobs above law, and inaugurate a license and disorder which bring upon us all the honors of anarchy. Nothing would be safe—life, liberty and property could lose all its guarantees.

The people of Kentucky will hold fast to the principles of Clay, Jackson, and Crittenden. They will uphold the constituted authorities, and resist all attempts to inaugurate mobocracy. The high position which they have assumed, they will steadily and faithfully adhere to.

It is the fate of Kentucky to be the victim of malice and ignorance. In reckless disregard of the truth, certain papers in the North are vilifying her character, for no honest purpose, but only to subserve the meanest party purposes.

The Vincennes Sun, a paper published in Indiana, holds the following villainous language with regard to the recent election in this State:

"It is enough to cause the cheek to tingle with shame and make the heart sick, to read the outrages perpetrated upon the rights of freemen by military upstarts. As a contemporary has said, this election was one of the greatest outrages on a free election ever perpetrated in any State. It was a victory of usurpation, terrorism and fraud over the Constitution and laws of the State Kentucky—a victory of despotism over liberty; and because it is this, does it deserve, with its authors, the execration of every patriot throughout the land."

This is the tone of all that class of newspapers in the country, which are styled "Butternut," and "Copperhead." Nothing could be farther from the truth than such slurs upon the people of this State. All that class of newspapers are bemoaning the defeat of the Wickliffe party; and we can conceive of no other reason, than that they sympathize with that party—a party which, practically, was a Secession party; whose success would have been the triumph of disloyalty and the ruin of the State.

The vote received by the Union Democratic ticket is a sufficient answer to the base slanders of Copperhead papers. Returns from about 100 counties show that Bramlette has already received a majority of all the legal voters of the State. Give Wick-liffe the vote of all our soldiers in the Union army and all the unpolluted voters in the State, and Bramlette would still be elected. No one can pretend that any one was intimidated to vote for Bramlette. The freemen who voted for him, did so voluntarily. Kentucky is loyal to the core—she understands her interest and her duty, and has the sense and moral and physical courage to pursue both. Let Copperheads hiss—they can only show their venom and malignity.

Major General William Nelson.

The remains of Major General William Nelson passed through our city yesterday morning in charge of the committee of the Legislature, and a suitable escort, en route for Camp Dick Robinson, where they will finally repose, in obedience to his often expressed wishes. All the bells in the city were tolled—minute guns were fired from an adjoining hill, and every demonstration of respect shown, which the shortness of the time allowed. A large crowd of the citizens assembled at the depot, on the arrival of the cars, and the feeling which pervaded, was the deceased and respect for his memory.

The name of Nelson will be indissolubly a fit evidence of the high admiration for linked with the history of this, his native State. The historian will put a proper and a very high estimate upon his invaluable services and his noble exertions to preserve and defend the honor and loyalty of his State. His body will be buried in the spot made famous by his own patriotic efforts in behalf of his country and of Kentucky, "but," to adopt the language of the Journal, "the memory, the worth, and the high integrity of General William Nelson will be eternally enshrined in the most sacred shrine of our State's gratitude and fond remembrance."

The Eminence Barbaque.

This affair, gotten up in honor of the 9th Ky. Cavalry, was one of the most successful demonstrations ever witnessed in this part of the State. The crowd in attendance was variously estimated from 8,000 to 10,000. The exercises were appropriate and interesting, and the dinner, as well as the entire management, did honor to all concerned.

Hon. Robert Mallory opened with a few eloquent and pointed remarks. He was followed by General John B. Huston, of Clarke, in one of his best efforts.

After dinner a sword was presented to Capt. Hardin, of the 9th Cavalry, by his company.

Col. John M. Harlan, then followed in an able and masterly speech of over one hour in length; after which Col. R. T. Jacob and Maj. Rue spoke.

We have not space to go into an extended notice of this truly successful and interesting meeting. It was a deserved tribute to the noble Jacob and the gallant officers and soldiers of the 9th Cavalry, who will long be remembered by a grateful country and State.

DARING ROBBERY.

The following dispatch was received, by Col. Allard, on yesterday. We hope that the scoundrels will be pursued and caught, if it costs five times as much as they stole and destroyed.

(By Telegraph.)

MADISON IND., August 20, 1863.

INAUGURAL RECEPTION HOP.—

Extensive arrangements are being made for an "INAUGURAL RECEPTION HOP," at the Capitol Hotel, on Tuesday evening, September 1st. From our knowledge of the gentlemen who have the matter in charge, we venture the prediction that it will equal in magnificence, and in all its arrangements, the far-famed Assembly Balls. Let the beauty and gallantry of Kentucky add, by their presence, to the interesting exercises of that most eventful and interesting day in the history of the State.

N. Y. Medical University.

Medical students, desiring to avail themselves of the teaching of able professors, and to enjoy all the advantages of a Medical education in a large city, will do well to attend this school.

GODBY'S LADY'S BOOK FOR SEPTEMBER.

This is an invaluable number of this magazine (to the Ladies), and we venture the prediction that, although the rougher sex may rail out against Milliners, Mantua Makers, the fashions, and "the Lady's Book" as all humbugs, every mother's son of them who gets a chance will be found openly or secretly peeping into "Godey" to see what becoming fashion their better half will wear next month. Is it not so Ladies?

ENGLISH CONVICTS SENT TO THE UNITED STATES.

The New York Express says there is positive evidence that the British Government is sending ticket-of-leave convicts to this country. Two were found on board the ship E. H. Taylor, which arrived at New York on Monday. They confessed that they had been convicted of crime in England, and stated that their passage to the United States was paid by the British Government. They were not allowed to go to English colonies, and say that a large number of their comrades in crime have been sent to this country by the same process.

THE STATE FAIR.—

The Louisville Journal, of Aug. 19th, says: The work of preparation on the grounds of the Louisville and Jefferson County Association is pushed forward with great assiduity. We never saw so much destruction and devastation as was wantonly committed by the troops which have been encamped on the grounds. To adapt the amphitheatre for a stable, they sawed heavy beams and girders, to replace which will cost twenty times the amount for which a new stable could have been built. The extensive cattle sheds have been nearly stripped of roofing, and there is not a visible sign remaining of any of the fences which formerly enclosed the main avenue from the principal gate to the ladies' reception-house. To replace and repair all these things requires labor and money, and the directors are doing it in the most liberal manner, so that everything will be in readiness by the 15th proximo.

Our agriculturists, mechanics, and manufacturers must exert themselves in co-operation with the State Society to make the annual fair a complete success. The attention which is paid to these objects marks the progress of enlightened civilization. Belgium, we see it stated, possesses an order of merit for industrial and agricultural laborers. The decoration worn by the members has just been modified by royal decree, and now consists of a medal bearing an emblematic figure representing manufactures or agriculture, as the case may be, upon a black enamel ground, surrounded with a red border. The design is enclosed with a fillet, on which are inscribed the words, "Skill—morality." Around the whole is a wreath of laurel in blue enamel for artisans, and green for agriculturists, surmounted by the arms of the country, suspended to a royal crown. The decoration is suspended to a ribbon of the national colors, which, however, cannot be worn without the medal. With our plain republican habits, we eschew decorations, but there is as much pride taken in winning the blue or red ribbons as a Belgian can feel in sporting a medal from his button hole.

We heartily concur in the following, from the Louisville Journal, in relation to John Morgan and his men:

Morgan's men are taking the oath and giving bonds to effect their release, and it is hinted that even the chief of the horse thieves is willing to "swear a little" to escape the solitude of the Columbus penitentiary and return to the fatness of the land in his bluegrass home. While we would have no impediment thrown in the way of those who are honestly penitent and wish to return to their allegiance we implore that the greatest circumspection may be used before these men are let loose again upon the community. Many of them have already taken the oath, but disregarded it, and gone back to their command, to be captured a second time. They do not regard it as a crime to take what they consider an extorted oath, and they look upon it as an admirable piece of strategy to deceive the Government in this manner. But they may, after being the recipients of clemency, remain apparently quiet, while at the same time exerting a great influence in persuading others to join the rebel ranks; they can act as recruiting officers almost as efficiently as if they paraded with drum and fife and the stars and bars flying to the breeze. Rebels who are thus allowed to remain among us can poison the air by secretly talking treason, and some of them had the impudence to vote for Wickliffe at the recent election. There are not ten out of every hundred of Morgan's gang who have any shadow of claim upon the clemency of the Government they have wronged and insulted, but a much larger proportion of them will doubtless experience it. It seems to us that a commission of Kentucky officers ought to investigate their claims, for they would be more likely to understand the facts and have personal knowledge of the claimants. At all events the utmost precaution should be exercised before any one of Morgan's band is allowed to go at large.

"My dearest Maria," wrote a recently married husband to his wife. She wrote back: "Dearest, let me either correct your grammar or your morals. You address me, 'My dearest Maria.' Am I to suppose you have other dear Marias?"

WASHINGTON, August 19. The following is the language of Maj. Gen. Hallack to the agent for the exchange of prisoners:

"It is directed that immediately on receiving official or other authentic information of the execution of Capt. Sawyer and Capt. Flynn, you will proceed to hang F. H. Lee and the other rebel officers designated as herein above directed, and that you notify Robt. Ould, Esq., of said proceedings, and assure him that the Government of the United States will proceed to retaliate for every similar barbarous violation of the laws of civilized warfare."

PRAIRIE CHICKENS.—

The Dubuque Times says that "never since Iowa has been settled by the white man have prairie chickens been as numerous as at the present season. In Buchanan and Blackhawk counties they can be killed with stones and clubs, and hunting them with guns is next to no sport at all. So plenty are they that farmers importune hunters to try their luck on their grounds, and in some instances they have manifested a willingness to pay for the killing."

A singular discovery, it is said, has been made on the French coast, near the mouth of the Garonne. A town has been discovered, buried in the sand, and a church has already been extracted from it. Its original plan shows it to have been built near the close of the Roman empire. The original paintings, its sculptured choir and capitals, are adorned with profuse ornaments, which are attracting a large number of visitors. This is all that remains of those cities described by Pliny and Strabo, although the Gulf of Gascony abounds in ruins of ancient cities.

Rather unexpected was the reply of the archin who, on being arraigned for playing marbles on Sunday, and sternly asked, "Do you know where those little boys go who play marbles on Sunday?" replied innocently, "Yes, some on 'em goes to the common, and some on 'em goes down by the side of the river."
